

SongHa Choi was born in Bielefeld, Germany in 2000. In 2012, she was awarded a place at the Yehudi Menuhin School, where she currently studies with Lutsia Ibragimova. Before joining the Yehudi Menuhin School, SongHa attended the Korean National Institute for the Gifted in Arts, and pre-college course of the Korean National University of Arts, where her teachers included Bo Yeon Lee. She has won many competitions and been awarded many prizes during this time and has already received much critical acclaim, with performances of several works from the violin concerto repertoire.